

SEPTUAGINT ARTICLES

Ben Sira's perspective on women: Jewish and/or Hellenistic? J. Cook	1-18
Clarifying the thesis of 1 Esdras 3 & 4 that "women are the strongest" through Cognitive Linguistics P. J. Jordaan & E. Coetzer	19-32
"O woman, who alone gave birth to such complete devotion!" Some remarks on the materfamilias and other women of 1-4 Maccabees C.L. de Wet	33-56
Pain, endurance and gender in 4 Maccabees P. Dijkhuisen	57-76
The LXX book of Esther as a satirical drama M. du Toit	77-95
The Mother in 4 Maccabees – an example of rational choice in religion S. Fuhrmann	96-113
Reading Susanna as therapeutic narrative P.J. Jordaan	114-128
LXX Esther: "more" God "less" theology P. Nagel	129-155
"Beautiful but tough". A comparison of LXX Esther, Judith and Susanna G.J. Steyn	156-181
Is Bathsheba guilty? The Septuagint's perspective R.H. van der Bergh	182-193
The prayers of Esther (LXX) and Judith against their social backgrounds. Evidence of a possible common Grundlage? C.P. van der Walt	194-206

GENERAL ARTICLES

The evil eye of YHWH Z. Kotze	207-218
Jewish banditry and peasant protest movements 6-66 CE: a comparative approach L.R. Lincoln	219-239

The Babylonian exile in Jeremiah: an experience for Judean people J.N. Mavinga	240-265
The political influence of queen mothers on Judean kings in Jeremiah's time J.N. Mavinga	266-288
Problems with narratological analyses of Genesis 22:1-19 C.J.S. Lombaard	289-305