

InhoudContents

“A king in the grass”: liminality and inversion in Daniel 4:28-37 A. Basson	1-14
A comparison of the Qumran community and Hare Krishna movement regarding ritual impurity, its sources and rectification G. Dennill & J.A. Naudé	15-33
Biblical rhetoric: the art of religious dialogue Y. Gitay	34-56
Who was Ezra? Deliberations in Oral Torah G. Lier	57-81
Creating new contexts. On the possibilities of Biblical Studies in contexts generated by the Dead Sea scrolls J.A. Loader	82-104
Jeremiah’s book: a twofold aspect applied to the royal oracle (23:1-8; 33:14-26) J.N. Mavinga	105-130
Naḥalah . Inheritance in Deuteronomy and the Deuteronomistic History N.F. Schmidt	131-151
Morphology and morphosyntax of the adjective in attributive and predicative constructions in the Egypt-Amarna letters J.P. Van der Westhuizen	152-177
Word order variation in non-verbal sentences in the Egypt-Amarna letters J.P. Van der Westhuizen	178-204
Dramatic rhetoric, metaphoric imagery, and discourse structure in Joel E. Wendland	205-239
Alternative identity and memory in ultra-Orthodox newspapers O. Tsarfaty	240-274